Bishop T.D. Jakes is one of the most influential religious leaders in the world. He is the pastor of The Potter's House, a megachurch in Dallas, Texas, and the host of the popular television show "The T.D. Jakes Show." Jakes has written numerous books, including the bestseller "The Destiny Principle." His latest book, "The Street Is My Pulpit," is a powerful and inspiring memoir that tells the story of his journey from the streets of South Carolina to the pulpit of one of the largest churches in the United States.

Jakes was born in South Carolina in 1957. He grew up in a poor family, and he often got into trouble as a child. At the age of 16, he was arrested for stealing a car. Jakes spent the next year in jail, and it was during that time that he had a life-changing experience. He began to read the Bible, and he found solace in its message of hope and redemption.

After Jakes was released from jail, he decided to turn his life around. He enrolled in college, and he eventually earned a degree in theology. Jakes began preaching in small churches, and he quickly gained a reputation as a gifted orator. In 1996, he founded The Potter's House, which has since grown into one of the largest churches in the United States.

In "The Street Is My Pulpit," Jakes shares his insights on faith, hope, and the power of love. He writes about the challenges he has faced in his life, and he offers his advice on how to overcome adversity. Jakes is a gifted storyteller, and his memoir is both inspiring and entertaining. It is a must-read for anyone who is interested in the power of faith.

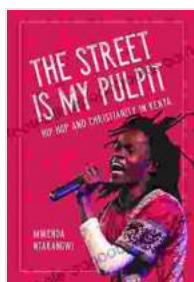

Quotes from "The Street Is My Pulpit"

- "The street is my pulpit because it is where I find my people. It is where I can speak to them about the things that matter most in life: faith, hope, and love."
- "I believe that everyone has a story to tell. And I believe that every story is worth hearing."
- "We are all called to make a difference in the world. It doesn't matter what your circumstances are. You can make a difference."
